

Image

Navajo Indian captives under guard, Fort Sumner, New Mexico, ca. 1864–1868. Photograph by the United States Army Signal Corps, courtesy of Palace of the Governors Photo Archives (NMHM/DCA), 028534

Mention of the years at Bosque Redondo brings up nothing but bad memories for the Navajo (Diné). Once interned, leaders of the Navajo (Diné) Nation continued to find ways to take care of their people and look for ways to return home.