

Photographs by Tani Gordon, The Sicangu Eyapaha

The northern Plains also provided many kinds of plant foods to sustain the Oceti Sakowin. One important traditional plant is timpsila, a nutritious wild turnip. Oceti Sakowin people still gather and eat timpsila today.