Copyright Warning

The Copyright Law of the United States(TITLE 17, UNITED STATES CODE)Governs the Making of Photocopies or other Reproductions of COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL IN SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION COLLECTIONS.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses the photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringements. (See 17 U.S.C. 108, 702; 37 C.F.R. 201.14.J). Users are warned that Smithsonian collections contain many documents in which the Smithsonian does not hold copyright. It is solely up to each user to discover and to satisfy any copyright liabilities or obligations, including limits of fair use as currently interpreted in Law.

The Smithsonian Institution

- ...reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order, if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law;
- ...will refuse a copying order if, in its judgment, the copying may violate restrictions in deeds of gift, personal or corporate privacy, or might even give rise to a claim defamation;
- ... will not intercede with any copyright holder on behalf of any user; and
- ... makes no warranty or representation regarding the fitness for publication of information derived from or copies made from its collections.

I have read the copyright warning and believe that my request falls within "fair use" as defined by the copyright law. I further agree to request permission (and pay any fees) of the National Museum of the American Indian Archives if I plan to publish, broadcast or otherwise disseminate any material held by the National Museum of the American Indian Archives.
