

TRANSFORMER

NATIVE ART IN LIGHT & SOUND

NEW PROJECTS
EVERY MONTH!
CHECK OUR WEBSITE FOR UPDATES!

Stephen Foster, Raven Brings the Light, 2011 (detail). Multi-channel video and audio installation (3:30 min.).
Collection of the artist.

EXPLORING ART & TECHNOLOGY

Join us the first and third Saturdays of each month for an afternoon of tinkering and making!

Inspired by the exhibition Transformer: Native Art in Light and Sound, workshops explore the intersection of art, science, and technology through hands-on, experimental activities.

- Projects align with STEAM approaches to learning.
- Recommended for ages 9 and up.
- All programs are free, but registration is required. To learn more and register: (212) 514-3705 - NMAI-NY-education@si.edu

Storytelling Shadow Puppets

Saturday, March 3, 2018, 1 PM - 4 PM

Saturday, March 17, 2018, 1 PM - 4 PM

Artist Stephen Foster's artwork brings to life the Haida story of the Raven who carried daylight to his dark world by evoking hand shadows during a camping trip. Explore the tradition of storytelling through the world of shadow puppets by creating your own 2-D or 3-D printed character.

Invisible Inventions

Saturday, April 7, 2018, 1 PM - 4 PM

Saturday, April 21, 2018, 1 PM - 4 PM

What can we find when we look and listen? Explore Julie Nagam's work Our future is in the land: if we listen to it and illuminate your own hidden images and messages by creating simple circuits with paper and LEDs.

Transformer: Native Art in Light and Sound and related programming are made possible through the generous support of the members of the New York Board of Directors of the National Museum of the American Indian, Ameriprise Financial, and Con Edison.

Smithsonian
National Museum of the American Indian